

Dear Anneliese,

I am pleased to offer my endorsement for your soffit vent product. As a leader in the residential new construction industry, I am familiar with the challenges and problems our industry has yet to face and/or solve. Your product effectively solves one of these long-standing problems: safely and effectively venting a bathroom exhaust fan to a soffit.

Should your product perform the way its design intended, I fully support its use in residential new construction projects and existing home retrofits. I would speculate that Pulte's Northeast Corridor Division would purchase approximately 2,000 vents per year for our residential new construction projects.

Sincerely,

Timothy Pacelli
